

No. A certificate of appropriateness is not a building permit. If a certificate of appropriateness is required for a project, it is in addition to and not in lieu of any other permit or approval that may be required for a project of that type (e.g., zoning board or planning board approval, if applicable).